

Heavy Hitters Partners With PAX Labs to Offer Consumers the Best of Two Award-Winning Brands

Original high potency vape brand, Heavy Hitters, is now available in PAX Era pods

LOS ANGELES ? November 27, 2018 /Canna Newswire/ ?]Heavy Hitters has signed an agreement with PAX Labs® to bring cannabis oil to consumers in pod technology. PAX Labs is the company behind the PAX Era vapor platform and compatible pod technology. The Heavy Hitters PAX pods will be available in Northern Lights, Pineapple Express, and Jack Herer starting in November 2018, with a 1:1 CBD/THC strain to follow.

?Heavy Hitters is all about listening to customers and finding innovative ways to deliver better products for better experiences,? according to Hannah Davis, Chief Marketing Officer for Mammoth Distribution, the exclusive distributor of Heavy Hitters products. ?Heavy Hitters is the second largest vape brand in California and has a large, established fan base. It's one of the original Southern California brands, and consumers tell us they love Heavy Hitters because it's the best tasting and most enjoyable high. So pairing Heavy Hitters' oil with the convenience and popularity of PAX devices was a natural fit.?

PAX Era Pods feature heat control technology that provides superior flavor and consistent vapor quality and are only compatible with the PAX Era device. PAX Era pods are engineered to prevent leaking and clogging and offer stylish on-the-go dosing. Pods are easily popped into the device and can be switched out to fit any mood or occasion. The device is buttonless, pocket-friendly and easily connects to the mobile app for temperature control and flavor profiles.

About Heavy Hitters:

The Original high-potency vape cartridge, from Southern California, Heavy Hitters boasts True Ceramic cartridges with Cold-Filtered distillate for the best vaping experience available. Smokers love Heavy Hitters for its best-tasting oil and most enjoyable high. Heavy Hitters' signature Cold-Filtering purifies the oil beyond standard distillation, resulting in a consistent ultra-potent cannabis oil, and a better experience for you. True Ceramic cartridges yield none of the harmful wick components of standard cartridges, instead relying on high-quality ceramic throughout the heating element to ensure no harmful byproducts, and an even dose. Bearing the Clean Cannabis Guarantee seal, Heavy Hitters proudly meets or exceeds all California standards for cannabis excellence and safety.
